Fandaqah 360 Marketing Campaign Playbook

Instructions for the marketing and sales teams

Run four campaigns with separate audiences, messages, creatives and sales follow-up. Use one shared landing page connected to Fandaqah CRM. Record the campaign name and channel for every enquiry. Our aim is paid subscriptions and qualified sales conversations.

Deadline: submit the detailed campaign plan to management on Thursday morning, 22 October 2026, Saudi time. Launch approved campaigns on Thursday, 22 October, after approval and successful technical checks.

Understand the buyer

A buyer persona describes the person who influences or approves a purchase: their responsibilities, problems, objections and reason to act. A customer segment describes the type of account. One account may involve an owner, general manager, IT manager and finance manager.

Campaign	Primary buyer and buying concern	Desired action
A Existing customers	Owner, GM or finance manager. Wants more value without disruption.	Request an upgrade review.
B New properties	Independent hotel owner or GM. Wants simpler operations and predictable costs.	Book a Fandaqah 360 demo.
C Opera and brand PMS	IT and finance leaders, GM and owner. Need compatibility, approvals and a defensible cost case.	Request a technology cost review.
D Local chains	Group owner, CEO, COO or IT director at an operator with about 10 or more properties. Wants group control and a technology partner.	Book a group discovery meeting.

Route every account to one primary campaign

Existing customer takes Campaign A. For new accounts, a local multi-property group takes D; a property with a confirmed mandated PMS takes C; other independent properties take B. A group's branded property may need a C demonstration inside a D account discussion. Do not send conflicting offers to the same account.

Keep the commercial offers separate

A and B promote the Fandaqah 360 prepaid subscription. The working calculation is SAR 3,349 per year, or SAR 6,698 paid upfront for 24 months. VAT, package scope, fees, eligibility and upgrade credits remain to be confirmed before the price appears in an advertisement.

C and D require a scoped proposal. Do not advertise the SAR 6,698 package as the price for Opera integrations, a dedicated environment or unlimited customisation. The launch approvals on page 11 apply to all campaigns.

Campaign A Existing customers

Buyer: the owner, GM or finance manager who already knows Fandaqah. Common trigger: renewal, an unused module, repeated manual work or a request for better reporting. Main objection: paying again for tools they may not need.

Headline options

- A loyalty offer built around your hotel.
- More value from the Fandaqah you already use.
- Upgrade to Fandaqah 360 and lock your subscription price for two years.
- Bring more of your hotel operations into one connected system.

Main advertisement

Main headline: More value for your hotel. A fixed price for two years.

Ad text: Already using Fandaqah? Discover how Fandaqah 360 can connect more of your daily operations. Ask us to review your current subscription, the modules you need and your eligibility for our two-year prepaid offer.

Call to action: Check my upgrade offer

Visual and reel brief

Static image: show a real Fandaqah dashboard beside the three most useful additional modules for this audience. Use a loyalty message and one button. Avoid a crowded grid of every feature.

Time	What viewers see	Words on screen
0–3 sec	Hotel manager switches between manual records.	Already with Fandaqah? Get more value.
3–10 sec	Show two modules the selected customers do not currently use.	Connect more of your daily work.
10–20 sec	Demonstrate one useful task in the live product.	See what your upgrade includes.
20–25 sec	Show the offer and the upgrade button.	Check your two-year upgrade offer.

Instructions to the team

- Audience: verified existing customers only. Use current plan, renewal date and modules to personalise the message. Exclude customers already on the same offer and route unresolved service complaints to account care first.
- Channels: account manager, permissioned email and WhatsApp; eligible first-party remarketing can support the campaign. Do not spend broadly to reach customers we can identify directly.
- Sales handoff: confirm account ID, current term, included modules and any approved credit or proration. Never promise that remaining subscription value will automatically be refunded.

Measure completed upgrade reviews, proposals, paid upgrades and collected cash. Compare the two leading headlines using the same audience and call to action.

Campaign B New independent properties

Buyer: an independent property owner or GM. Finance and operations influence the choice. Main problem: separate tools, repeated entry and unclear responsibility between suppliers. Main objections: migration effort, training and committing for two years.

Headline options

- Too many hotel systems? Bring your operations together.
- Your hotel operations. One connected platform.
- Built for Saudi hospitality. Designed for your daily work.
- Choose Fandaqah 360 and lock your subscription price for two years.

Main advertisement

Main headline: Spend less time managing disconnected hotel systems.

Ad text: Bring reservations, accounting, POS, inventory, purchasing, HR, housekeeping and maintenance into a connected hotel platform. Discover Fandaqah 360, review the supported integrations and see whether our two-year prepaid offer fits your property.

Call to action: Book my hotel demo

Visual and reel brief

Static image: show a clear hotel workflow from reservation to back office. Use four to six readable module labels, a real interface and one call to action. Keep price separate from claims about savings.

Time	What viewers see	Words on screen
0–3 sec	Several disconnected software windows.	Still managing your hotel in separate systems?
3–10 sec	Show a reservation connecting to a relevant hotel task.	Bring your operations together.
10–20 sec	Demonstrate accounting, housekeeping or inventory with sample data.	See the workflow in Fandaqah 360.
20–25 sec	Show demo button and approved offer terms.	Book a demo. Review the two-year offer.

Instructions to the team

- Audience: new independent hotels and eligible accommodation properties in Saudi Arabia. A Ministry registration record alone does not establish the buyer, current PMS or permission to send promotions.
- Channels: test high-intent Google Search and short Arabic social videos. Use verified, permitted contact records for direct follow-up. Exclude existing customers and accounts assigned to C or D.
- Landing page: explain included modules, migration assessment, training and support scope. Show one real workflow. Publish package limits and separate usage charges only after they are confirmed.

Measure qualified property enquiries, attended demos, proposals, paid subscriptions and collected cash. Do not promise zero downtime, instant migration or regulatory approval without evidence.

Campaign C Opera and brand mandated PMS

Buyer: IT manager or director and finance director, supported by the GM or owner. They want lower overall technology costs and useful connected workflows while respecting the required PMS and brand rules. A brand name or star rating does not prove the installed PMS.

Headline options

- Strengthen your Opera PMS with connected hotel operations.
- Enhance the efficiency of your Opera-based hotel operations.
- More connected workflows around your Opera PMS.
- See where your hotel can reduce technology costs.

Main advertisement

Main headline: Strengthen your Opera PMS with connected hotel operations.

Ad text: Explore Fandaqah solutions for supported back-office workflows, hotel operations, payments and regulatory integrations around your existing PMS. We will review your current costs, required interfaces and approval process before preparing a proposal.

Call to action: Request a technology cost review

Visual and reel brief

Static image: place “Your existing PMS” at the centre, with only supported Fandaqah services around it. Use Opera as a text reference where relevant. Do not use third-party logos or imply certification or endorsement without documented rights.

Time	What viewers see	Words on screen
0–3 sec	Several annual software invoices, with sample figures only.	How much does your hotel technology really cost?
3–10 sec	Keep the existing PMS visible.	Strengthen the workflows around Opera.
10–20 sec	Show one approved interface and its resulting workflow.	Connect back office, operations and supported integrations.
20–25 sec	Show review checklist and meeting button.	Request your technology cost review.

Instructions to the team

- Audience: verified Opera or other mandated-PMS properties. Sales must confirm the installed product, version, deployment, interface access and brand or owner approval route before promising compatibility.
- Channels: a small named-account campaign, relevant Search terms and professional targeting on LinkedIn. Share a technical brief with IT and a cost comparison with finance.
- Do not advertise “50% savings” universally. SAR 20,000 versus SAR 10,000 is an illustration until a like-for-like comparison establishes the scope, recurring charges, setup, support and interfaces. The example equals SAR 10,000 or 50% annual savings, not a guaranteed result.

Measure qualified cost reviews, technical meetings, integration assessments, scoped proposals and signed business. “24/7 local support” and AI claims need the evidence on page 11.

Campaign D Local chains and operators

Buyer: group owner, CEO or COO, with IT and finance approval. Target local operators, owners and asset managers responsible for about 10 or more properties. A DMC is relevant only if it actually manages accommodation assets or technology decisions.

Headline options

- Your brand. Your policies. Your hotel technology.
- A dedicated technology platform for your hotel group.
- Bring every property under one technology strategy.
- Build your hospitality technology partnership with Fandaqah.

Main advertisement

Main headline: A dedicated hotel technology platform built around your group.

Ad text: Explore a dedicated Fandaqah environment with agreed branding, workflows, integrations and group reporting. Standardise supported processes across your properties with one accountable technology partner and a clearly scoped implementation plan.

Call to action: Book a group discovery meeting

Visual and reel brief

Static image: show a group dashboard linked to several property dashboards. Mark any sample white-label screen “Illustrative branding”. Explain that deployment, customisation and branding are agreed in the proposal.

Time	What viewers see	Words on screen
0–3 sec	Several properties, each with a different reporting process.	Managing a hotel group through disconnected systems?
3–10 sec	Show a central dashboard with property-level views.	See your group and each property clearly.
10–20 sec	Demonstrate an approved group workflow and sample branding.	Align supported workflows with your brand.
20–25 sec	Show workshop invitation.	Discuss a dedicated technology platform.

Instructions to the team

- Audience: named Saudi chain accounts and verified group-level decision-makers. Confirm managed versus owned or franchised properties, approximate property count and who controls technology purchasing.
- Channels: personalised account outreach, LinkedIn content and a focused group-demo invitation. Coordinate all contacts under one account owner. Do not treat every property as an unrelated sales lead.
- Offer a discovery workshop covering property structure, reports, permissions, integrations, hosting, support and implementation. Price setup, ongoing service and agreed customisation separately in the proposal.
- Replace “100% customised” with “customised to an agreed scope”. White labelling does not imply transfer of source-code ownership, unlimited changes or exclusivity. Contract terms determine these matters.

Measure qualified group meetings, workshops, documented opportunities, pilots and signed group agreements. Demonstrate AI only through approved working use cases.

Prepare the contact lists before activation

The supplied lists are starting data, not verified audiences. Marketing must maintain one shared CRM or controlled master file. Preserve the original source and do not overwrite uncertain fields with guesses.

Create these fields in the master file

Account ID; property or group name; city; website; source and source date; named contact and role; phone and email; direct or shared route; existing customer status; property count; current PMS and version where relevant; primary campaign; contact verification date; marketing permission and permitted channels; sales owner; outcome; next action; suppression reason.

Follow this sequence for every record

1. Remove duplicates at property, group and contact level. Keep a group account linked to its properties. Standardise Saudi numbers to +966 format only when the original country and number are clear; keep the raw value.
2. Check identity against the customer system, official company website or a recent professional source. Confirm whether the number is a switchboard, reservations desk or the named person’s business contact. A valid format is not proof that the number works.
3. Assign a verification status: Verified identity and business route; Shared hotel route only; Unverified; or Invalid. Email validation must separate deliverable, invalid, catch-all and unknown results. Never invent an email from a naming pattern.
4. Record marketing permission separately from contact accuracy. For person-directed marketing, document the applicable permission and permitted channel. Respect opt-outs immediately. A public directory or government registration is not marketing consent. [1, 2]
5. Route existing customers to A, eligible independent properties to B, confirmed mandated-PMS properties to C and qualifying groups to D. Put unknown PMS, role or property ownership into a research queue.
6. Release only records eligible for the chosen channel. Suppress invalid contacts, opt-outs and conflicting campaign assignments. Keep unverified personal numbers out of bulk messaging.

Use each list through the appropriate channel

Data source	Allowed campaign workflow
Existing customers	Account review and permissioned customer communications. Use eligible first-party audiences only after checking consent, privacy disclosures and platform terms.
Ministry or public directories	Research and qualification. Use Search or contextual prospecting while contact permission is unresolved. Do not upload scraped contacts into Google Customer Match. [3]
Opera and chain lists	Verify the hotel, installed PMS or group structure and decision-maker. Use public company targeting where available; personal data uploads require the relevant rights and permissions. [4]

Start with a small verified sample per segment, for example 20–30 eligible records if available. Review wrong numbers, bounced emails and audience fit before expanding. This is a recommended pilot size, not a guarantee of campaign performance.

Produce the assets and handle enquiries

Deliver this asset set for each campaign

Prepare two static headline variants and one 20–30 second vertical reel per campaign for Thursday launch. Prepare a four-slide carousel per campaign next, without delaying launch. All campaigns use the same landing page URL. A/B also need an approved message for eligible email or WhatsApp recipients; C/D need a short sales brief.

- Use production defaults of 1080 × 1920 for vertical video and 1080 × 1350 for feed images. Preview cropping, captions and buttons in each platform before publishing.
- Produce Arabic as the main Saudi audience version and a separate English version where needed. A fluent Saudi Arabic reviewer must check meaning, offer terms and tone. Do not shrink both languages onto one crowded creative.
- Use one main promise and one call to action. Make the problem visible in the first three seconds. Show real product screens with sample data, readable captions and clear voiceover. Remove guest identities and customer-sensitive information.
- AI must be demonstrated, not shown as a decorative robot. Product must choose a working feature, explain its limits and approve the recording. Document-to-reservation capture is an example only if approved in the current release.
- Use approved customer names, logos, testimonials and measured results only with permission. Do not invent reviews, savings, countdowns or limited availability.

For the first test, change only the headline. Keep the audience, offer, format and call to action consistent. Do not declare a winner from a few clicks. Search ads should target hotel software needs, not travellers booking rooms. Test terms such as hotel PMS Saudi Arabia, hotel accounting software and Opera back office integration; exclude irrelevant hotel-room and job-seeking searches.

Shared landing page and CRM handoff

Build one landing page connected to Fandaqah CRM

Use one canonical URL with four audience sections or a segment selector. Match the opening message and CTA to the campaign link. A/B explain the approved prepaid offer; C explains the compatibility and cost review; D explains group discovery. Allow visitors to select a different interest without losing their original acquisition source.

Use tagged links for every campaign and channel: utm_campaign = approved campaign name/code; utm_source = platform or sender; utm_medium = paid_search, paid_social, email or another agreed value; utm_content = creative version. Use A, B, C and D consistently. Never put personal contact details in URL tags.

Form: property/company, city, contact name, role, business email or phone, preferred contact channel and selected interest. Show a privacy notice and a separate optional marketing permission choice. Pass campaign, source/channel, medium, creative, landing URL, submission time and permission record to Fandaqah CRM. Label missing source Direct/Unknown.

CRM must create or update the lead, preserve original source and latest touch, assign the correct sales owner and notify them. Deduplicate using validated phone/email and property/group identifiers. Show success after CRM acknowledgement; log failures and retry or alert the responsible owner. Test all four routes before launch.

Follow this enquiry process

1. Record campaign code, creative version and source in the CRM. Use A, B, C or D consistently in links, forms, ads and reports. Test a complete enquiry before launch.
2. Send a confirmation and assign a sales owner. Proposed service target: respond within one business hour during staffed hours; acknowledge outside those hours and respond at the next staffed period. Sales must confirm capacity before launch.
3. Ask the segment-specific qualification questions. Record the decision-maker, pain, fit, approval route and next action. Book the appropriate demo or review; do not send the same generic demo to all four audiences.
4. Log every attempt and response. Agree a permitted follow-up time. For a valid enquiry with no reply, use at most three agreed campaign follow-ups across seven business days, unless the person opts out or requests another schedule.

Sales must never promise an unsupported integration, unapproved price, unlimited customisation or guaranteed savings to secure a meeting.

Submit the detailed plan for approval

Required submission: Thursday morning, 22 October 2026, Saudi time. The marketing lead must submit one consolidated, reviewable plan to management. Include the actual copy, creative previews, live landing page preview, proposed spending and CRM test evidence. A list of ideas alone is not a complete submission.

Plan component	What management must receive
1. Audience and buyer	A–D account definitions, buyer roles, verified eligible counts, list sources, contact permission status and exclusions. State any remaining uncertainty.
2. Message and creative	Two static headline variants and one reel per campaign; Arabic copy and English where needed; body text, CTA, visual preview and reel storyboard or final cut.
3. Channel plan	Chosen channels and objective for each segment, targeting, audience exclusions and why the channel fits the buyer. Separate direct outreach from paid advertising.
4. Budget and targets	Daily spend by campaign/channel, total pilot cap, proposed duration, qualified-lead and meeting targets with assumptions. No spend before approval.
5. Timing and ownership	Named person for each task, Thursday launch order, staffed sales hours, technical backup and escalation contact.
6. Landing page and tracking	One shared URL, four audience routes, campaign names, tagged links, form fields and exact mapping into Fandaqah CRM.
7. CRM acceptance evidence	Test submissions for A–D, source/channel capture, duplicate handling, correct owner assignment, notification, permission capture and failure handling.
8. Offer and proof	Confirmed price/VAT, scope, terms, claim evidence and supported integrations. Use the commercial and claims checklist on page 11.
9. Reporting and response	Lead qualification rules, response target, follow-up process and a daily scorecard with an accountable owner.

Approval and Thursday launch instructions

1. Management records approval, requested changes or a hold for each campaign, including its copy, offer and spend cap. Marketing records the decision and who approved it.
2. Complete requested changes and launch approved campaigns on Thursday, 22 October. Hold only the affected campaign or channel if its offer, permissions or technical checks fail; escalate immediately with the issue, owner and recovery time.
3. Confirm launch status to management on Thursday. Include live links, approved spend caps, CRM test status and any held items. Do not silently move the launch date.

The marketing lead owns the submission and launch coordination. Sales owns qualification and response; product approves capabilities; web/CRM owners prove enquiry delivery; the campaign operator controls publishing and spend.

Launch on Thursday and monitor results

Both the approval submission and campaign launch are due Thursday, 22 October 2026. All dates below use Saudi time. Preparation must finish before Thursday morning; launch follows management approval that same day.

When	Owner	Required output
Tue 20 Oct	Marketing lead	Assign named owners; confirm A–D routes; draft budget, channel plan and one-page/CRM requirements.
Tue–Wed 20–21 Oct	Data, sales and product	Validate lists and permission; confirm offer terms, supported features, claim evidence and sales response capacity.
Wed 21 Oct	Creative team	Eight static variants and four reels, approved Arabic and relevant English, matching CTAs and campaign previews.
Wed 21 Oct	Web and CRM owners	One shared landing page, four campaign links, mapped CRM fields, mobile/desktop tests, routing and failure checks.
Thu 22 Oct morning	Marketing lead	Submit the detailed plan, creative previews, budget and end-to-end CRM test evidence for management approval.
Thu 22 Oct after approval	Campaign operator and sales	Publish approved campaigns; verify live links, source capture, real enquiry delivery and sales notifications.
Thu 22 Oct end of day	Marketing lead	Report launch status, live links, spending, enquiries, CRM delivery and any blocker with its owner.
Fri–Wed 23–28 Oct	Marketing and sales	Check quality, response and spend daily. Review qualified pipeline with management; adjust only within approved limits.

Keep a separate scorecard for each campaign

Record spend, enquiries, qualified enquiries, meetings or demos booked and attended, proposals, paid deals, collected cash and next actions. Record invalid numbers, bounces and opt-outs separately. Do not combine the four funnels into one headline result.

Measure	Calculation or definition
Qualified enquiry	A real Saudi property or group, a relevant business contact, a suitable need and an agreed next step. Add existing account ID for A, confirmed mandated PMS for C and group scope for D.
Cost per qualified enquiry	Campaign spend ÷ qualified enquiries. Show “no qualified enquiries” when the denominator is zero.
Meeting attendance rate	Meetings attended ÷ meetings booked for the same cohort.
Cost per paid acquisition	Campaign spend ÷ new paying accounts attributed to that campaign. Report upgrades separately from new customers.

Daily: review contact quality and sales response. Weekly: review qualified pipeline and paid outcomes with sales. Agree spend caps and performance targets before launch; there is no universal acceptable cost per lead for these four different offers.

Approve the offer and advertising claims

The marketing lead must keep a written release record for each campaign. Product confirms capability; sales confirms delivery and commercial terms; the campaign owner authorises publication and spend. These checks support launch and do not delay preparation of the assets.

Claim or promise	Copy to use and evidence needed
50% lower subscriptions or AMC	Default: “See where your hotel can reduce technology costs.” Use a percentage only with a documented, comparable cost case and a clear scope and period.
100% Saudi compliant	Default: “Built for Saudi hospitality and supported regulatory workflows.” Name only approved, currently supported obligations and interfaces. No blanket compliance guarantee or implied government endorsement.
Saudi made	Use “Built for Saudi hospitality” until the product lead confirms the origin statement. Use certification marks only with documented entitlement.
AI powered or AI on clicks	Use “See AI assist your hotel workflow” only beside a demonstrated feature. State the supported inputs, required review and actual availability.
24/7 local support	Use only when staffing, channels, response terms and escalation coverage support it. Otherwise use “Support for your hotel operations” with the approved hours.
Dedicated and white labelled	Use “Dedicated deployment and branding to an agreed scope.” Confirm hosting, isolation, ownership terms, changes, implementation and service responsibilities.

Complete the commercial release record

For A and B, confirm: SAR 3,349 annual equivalent and SAR 6,698 total for 24 months; whether VAT is included or additional; payment timing; eligible customer and property types; property or room limits; included modules; setup, migration and training; usage charges for SMS, payments, verification or third parties; renewal terms; upgrade credits; cancellation and refund terms; and the offer’s actual end date or availability. Define whether the price lock covers the subscription fee only and how taxes or usage charges are treated.

Until confirmed, keep the numerical price out of public creatives and use “Ask about our two-year prepaid offer”. Do not copy A/B pricing into C/D proposals. No savings figure, guarantee or deadline is approved merely because it appears in this brief.

Policy references for list activation

Policy checks were reviewed on 20 October 2026. The data owner must apply the current rules when uploading lists or sending campaigns. These sources support the contact-use instructions on page 6; the campaign concepts are recommendations based on the supplied product and audiences.
